JAMES M. COX

James M. Cox, whose likeness appears above, is the standard bearer of the Democracy of today as well as of all precedents. As the campaign advances the assurance of the election of Cox and Roosevelt have been made certain.

DON'T skin the cream off the milk of human kindness before peddling it out.

The man who thinks the country is being run just as good as he could run it himself can be safely classed as a conservative.

When a girl plays a rhapsody so that it sounds like a funeral march, it may be truthfully said that she is murdering the music.

Late authorities an algebric problem tell us that men should marry the huskiest type of girls. Girls are willing to hustle for a man who wants that kind of a girl.

A French painter has destroyed all his pictures because people did not seem to show much enthusiasm over them. This is the self sacrifying spirit we would like to see imitated in the spring poet.

COLONEL McCASKEY NOW ON THE RETIRED LIST

Colonel Garrison McCaskey, provost marshal and commander of the 8th Infantry border patrol stationed at El Paso, has received notice that he has been retired to the inactive list with the rank of lieutenant colonel. He was retired for physical disability. Colonel McCaskey will remain in El Paso a week after which he will make a trip and finally return to his home at Pacific Grove, California.

Colonel McCaskey was born at Fort Ripley, Minnesota, where his father, Major General William S. McCaskey, was stationed. The latter was a veteran of the Civil War and served in Sherman's army. He was for some time commander of the Department of Texas. Colonel McCaskey entered the army as a private in 1898 in the 26th Infantry and won his commission as second lieutenant in the 25th Infantry. He was captain and adjutant of the 15th Infantry for nine years and served for the same length of time in the Philippines. He lives at the Hotel Paso del Norte.

ARRESTED AS VAGRANT, HAS $100 IN POCKET

Arrested on a charge of vagrancy and accused of having no visible means of support, an Arizona man Wednesday morning gave the police of El Paso a distinct shock when he calmly produced $100 in bills and a quantity of silver. He explained that he was not working because he recently had made quite a bit of money and was visiting relatives "so as to rest up a bit." He was promptly released. The man was arrested with 16 Mexicans taken in a police raid on City Hall park in El Paso.

REAL COWBOY ONCE: IS REEL ACTOR NOW

Hart Hoxie was a real cowpuncher a few years ago and he was practically ripped into the pictures. It all happened when he was punching cattle in Arizona and a moving picture company came along. Hart approached the place where the company was on location and watched the work with interest. The director of the company, seeing the good looking cowboy, asked him to work, and Hart grinned and said he guessed he'd try it, maybe.

The director soon found that he had unearthed some real dramatic talent and before long Hart was in southern California working in the pictures right along. In "Johnny Get Your Gun," the new Artcraft picture in which Fred Stone makes his third screen appearance at the Onyx theater tonight, Hart plays the important part of Bill Hornham, the pal of Johnny Wiggins, the chief character in the picture. Both boys are moving picture cowpunchers. Donald Crisp directed the picture and Henry Kidan did the camera work. The supporting cast is said to be excellent.

Ray was arrested by officers of the United States marshal's office at Winslow, Arizona, recently, but escaped from the Winslow jail last Friday after knocking down the jailer and taking his gun and star.

DISCHARGED SOLDIERS RAPIDLY ENLISTING IN COLUMBUS

Down at Captain Homer Mason's office, which is the recruiting office for Columbus, a reporter for the Daily Courier learned that during the month of June forty discharged soldiers enlisted and that for this month, up to the 20th, eighty men enlisted, which is at the rate of 120 for July. Captain Mason agreed with the Daily Courier's statement that the enlistments from now on will keep up with the discharges.

Romaho Mining Co.

Capitalization $400,000

THIS city, like all others, has, since any local change was in sight, been visited by salesmen representing every known stock company in the country; and thousands of dollars have been spent for various schemes, some good, some bad.

At present there is a practically local organization, made up of men their townpeople can call by their first name. The officials of the Romaho Mining Company are men who would not lend their names to a "scheme" of any description.

The prospects of the Romaho Mining Company are based on practical knowledge of area actually in sight in the Two Horns Mountains, and on the opinions of the best known mining engineers in this section of the United States.

Machinery has been ordered, some delivered, and actual work has been begun developing ore bodies on the claims of the Romaho Mining Company, and the future looks rosy to those who already have invested. If you are not among this number you should be.

The stock of this company is $1 per share and none will be sold for less. Get in on the ground floor. Your investment will earn money for you and it will earn money for Columbus, because this town will sell the supplies in the new mining camp. Send your order for shares to Tenney Williams & Co., the brokers for the Romaho Mining Company.

JUDGE J. E. CROSBY TIES HIS FIRST KNOT

A couple sixty approached Judge Jesse E. Crosby in his office the other day and announced that they wanted to get married.

"That's all right," said his honor, "Go right ahead."

"We want you to marry us," remarked the young man.

"Oh," said the judge, "Who-me?"

"Yes, sir, if you please."

"Can't you find a preacher or a justice of the peace, or something?" pleaded the judge. "You see, I never married anybody yet, except my wife; that is I mean—er."

The judge's voice trailed off into a scared whisper and he mopped his moist forehead, opened the other window, looked out wildly, fanned himself with a brief, sat down heavily, mechanically reached for "Eye" and turned to the chapter on Husband and Wife, "nothing there," he muttered, and feverishly walked up and down the chamber a time or two.

"Why don't they put that darn ceremony in some of these books?" complained his honor bitterly. "Well, stand up, then," he said resignedly. They stood.

"Do you think you want to marry this fellow?" inquired the judge.

"Yes, sir," admitted the girl. "You bet," he asked the nervous groom, "Sure."

"All right," said the judge, "Sign her hand." His honor reflected deeply for a moment or two. "That's about all I can think of right now," said he. "You're married. Kiss her."

"Where," sighed the judge a little later. "You see, I never did that before. Rather hear a divorce case."

Shameless he climbed the stairs, opened the door of the room, entered and without being detected closed it after him. Just as he was about to get into bed, his wife, half-dressed from slumber, turned and sleepily said:

"Is that you, Fido?"

The husband, telling the rest of the story, said:

"For once in my life I had real presence of mind. I licked her hand."—Scripps.
